The NSWOG Palliative Care Clinical Trials group in association with the Cancer Institute NSW is pleased to invite you to the 2nd

Palliative Care Basic Research Development and Design Workshop

Tuesday, 23 March 2010

8:30am - 4:45pm

Room 6A, Bay 6, Australian Technology Park

This workshop is being presented by the collaborative efforts of individuals including from Hope Healthcare, Sacred Heart Hospice, University of Newcastle, Cunningham Centre for Palliative Care, University of New South Wales, University of Notre Dame Australia, and the University of Sydney.

This Basic Palliative Care Research Development and Design Workshop is aimed at clinicians within palliative care who are just starting research or are considering it in the future. Specifically it is aimed at registrars, nurses, and allied health staff. For palliative medicine registrars attendance will be considered part of the training required by the Sydney Institute of Palliative Medicine Presentations and panel discussion from a number of researches will be presented.

THE WORKSHOP IS FREE

Places will be limited so please book your place by completing the online registration form. Registrations close Friday, 5 March 2010.

A full program will be available at www.cancerinstitute.org.au/NSWOG.

Where possible the Cancer Institute NSW will accommodate the travel requirements of staff attending from rural, regional areas, subject to approval. Please register your request through the online registration form.
