

WARNING: Disease you get may differ from one shown on pack

The image on the pack may be mouth cancer but you could end up with gangrene, emphysema, heart disease or any one of 16 other cancers caused by smoking.

Every time you inhale tobacco smoke toxic chemicals go into your bloodstream and travel to every part of your body. There's barely an organ they can't damage.

The graphic health warnings now on cigarette packs mean you'll be reminded of the diseases caused by smoking every time you pick up your cigarettes. When you look at the warnings, don't just see a gross picture, imagine the person suffering from that disease; and imagine being that person.

Most smokers want to quit and have tried before. Find out how you can increase your chances of beating your nicotine addiction by talking with a Quitline advisor.

Call today on 13 QUIT (13 7848). The number is also on the pack. So until you do give up smoking, it'll be in your pocket all day, every day.
